Course Materials:

- 1) Al-Kitaab fii Ta'allum al-'Arabiyya: A Textbook for beginning Arabic, Part 1 3rd edition
- 2) Al-Kitaab Part 1 Companion Website (if you took Arabic 112, your access is still good, but you will need to enroll in 211)
- 3) Al-Kitaab fii Ta'allum al-'Arabiyya: A Textbook for beginning Arabic, Part 2 3rd edition Companion Website (you will not need the book!! But you will have to purchase access to part 2)
- 4) Foreigncy Website: www.foreigncy.us. The cost is $10 a month for access, or you can purchase access for longer and get a discount (we will also use this site in 212). The discount code for a 6 month or year subscription is UNMArabic. This website will help use create a strong base in media Arabic as well as start to gain an understanding of the current issues in the region. Sign-up details will be posted on Learn.

- 5) TalkAbroad website: www.talkabroad.com. The LLC is sponsoring you for five conversations with language partners on this site this semester. This website will allow you to gain additional conversational practice with Arabic speakers.
- 6) Additional materials posted on UNM Learn (make sure you can access this site!)

Course Description and Goals: By the end of Arabic 211, you will, inshaa'allah:

- be able to develop Arabic skills to the ACTFL Intermediate-mid level in presentational speaking, listening, reading and writing.
- be able to develop Arabic skills to the ACTFL Intermediate-high level in interpersonal communication.
- be able to discuss cultural questions and issues involving the Arab world.

More details about these levels are shown below and are posted on UNM Learn. Throughout the course, language goals will be broken down into daily “Can-Do Statements”. You will also self-assess your ability to complete these Can-Do Statements throughout the semester.

Student Learning Objectives:

Language Skill	ACTFL Descriptor
Interpersonal Communication (Intermediate High)	I can participate with ease and confidence in conversations on familiar topics. I can usually talk about events and experiences in various time frames. I can usually describe people, places, and things. I can handle social interactions in everyday situations, sometimes even when there is an unexpected complication.
Presentational Speaking (Intermediate Mid)	I can make presentations on a wide variety of familiar topics using connected sentences.
Presentational Writing (Intermediate Mid)	I can write on a wide variety of familiar topics using connected sentences.
Interpretive Listening (Intermediate Mid)	I can understand the main idea in messages and presentations on a variety of topics related to everyday life and personal interests and studies. I can understand the main idea in conversations that I overhear.
Interpretive Reading (Intermediate Mid)	I can understand the main idea of texts related to everyday life and personal interests or studies.

Assessment:

Homework	20%
Attendance and Participation	20%
Can-Do Assessments	25%
Can-Do Surveys	5%
Culture and TalkAbroad	20%
Final Exam	10%

A+=100-97 A = 96-93 A- = 92-90 B+ = 89-87 B = 86-83 B- = 82-80
C+ = 79-77 C = 76-73 C- = 72-70 D+ = 69-67 D = 66-60 F = below 60

Homework: Daily homework is the backbone of this course. The purpose of the daily homework is to prepare you to practice the “Can-Do” statements for each day in class. Preparing for class is essential, and you should expect to spend 2 hours on homework for every class session.

You will complete homework both online and to hand in in class. Online homework is due before each class period, and homework submitted in class should be handed in at the beginning of class. However, the homework you submit online or in class is only part of the preparation you need to do before class. Since class time will be spent practicing what you have learned at home, you are expected to know the material well when you come to class. When you come to class prepared, you get the benefit of that day’s class time and help your colleagues move forward by challenging them to do their best. If you find it difficult to learn the material at home, do not hesitate to come to office hours or the extra help opportunities listed at the end of this syllabus.

You will receive a homework grade out of five total points for each day’s assignment. You do not have to have everything 100% correct on your homework in order to get a five as long as you have made your best effort. Pay close attention to your instructor’s comments on your assignments, and follow up promptly in office hours if you have questions about your homework grade. Homework receiving a five:

- Is submitted on time and is complete
- Is clearly written, both in form and content
- Displays your best effort to apply the material you have studied
- Displays an effort to review old material and make connections between it and the new material (recycling old vocabulary, grammar, and concepts)
- Continually indicates progress and improvement

On each homework assignment:

- Write your name in Arabic
- Write the due date
- Staple or paperclip pages together, or write your name on every page
- Leave room for feedback from your instructors on the homework

Failure to do any of the above will lower your homework grade by 1/2 point.

Your lowest 3 grades for homework will be dropped for purposes of grade calculation. Late assignments will not be accepted. However, if there are exceptional extenuating circumstances that will prevent you from turning in homework on time, contact your instructor to discuss the possibility of getting permission to submit late homework.

Attendance and Participation: Class time will be devoted to activating the vocabulary and structures that you have prepared as homework through activities using the language. You should expect to spend at least 75% of class time doing activities in pairs and small groups. Active participation in these activities in Arabic is essential to improving your Arabic proficiency and doing well in this class. You will receive a daily participation grade out of five points for participation. You will receive five points when you:

- Arrive to class on time
- Are well prepared for class (have learned the new vocabulary, read the grammar explanations and examples thoroughly, listened to the recorded material on the DVD/website, worked with the new material on your own, and done assigned homework)
- Use Arabic in the classroom as much as possible
- Participate actively in class work and group work to develop your speaking, reading, writing, and listening skills
- Stay focused on task objectives

If you do not meet these criteria, your daily participation grade will be lowered. Your daily grade will be posted on UNM Learn; if you have a question about your grade, please contact your instructor. If you are absent, you will receive a zero for that class. Your lowest two attendance grades will be dropped. Students with perfect attendance will receive 1% extra credit on their final grade. If there are exceptional extenuating circumstances that will result in you missing an extended amount of class, contact your instructor to discuss possible solutions.

Can-Do Assessments: Throughout the semester, we will be using Can-Do statements to guide our learning. You will be required to complete weekly assignments that will demonstrate your ability to perform certain tasks or demonstrate specific skills in Arabic. Certain entries that require more effort (such as interviewing an Arabic speaker) will count double. In addition to helping your instructors plan and assess your learning, these assignments will serve as a portfolio of your learning throughout the semester.

Can-Do Assessments will take the place of exams this semester, since tests are supposed to assess how well you “can do” a particular skill. Skits and presentations will also be rolled into the Can-Do Assessments. They are very important, so please do them!

Can-Do Surveys: You will be assigned a weekly can-do survey to self-assess your abilities and what you learned (or didn't learn) over the previous week. These surveys will be used to evaluate our program and target areas for improvement.

Culture and TalkAbroad: There will be three scheduled cultural discussions in English over the course of the semester. The topics will be related to what we are doing in class and will provide an overview for our themes, and you will need to prepare for each discussion by doing research on this topic.

TalkAbroad will give you the opportunity to speak to native speakers and will strengthen your ability to speak in Arabic to anyone, not just to your classmates and instructors. Assignment details will be posted on Learn.

Final Exam: The final exam will be comprehensive, and include sections on reading, writing, speaking, and listening. The speaking part will consist of an oral interview administered individually during finals week. The listening section will be the last day of classes (December 7th), and the written exam will be given on Monday, December 10th.

Extra Credit: You may receive up to two points total of extra credit on your final grade. There are two opportunities for extra credit:

- 1) Perfect Attendance: Students who have perfect attendance with no participation grade lower than a 4 will automatically receive 1% extra credit
- 2) Extracurricular activities: You can receive up to two points of extra credit for attending Arabic-related events on campus, including the CAPS tutoring and conversation hours listed in the extra help section below. A list of these events will be on UNM Learn, and you will receive .5% for each event attended (some of which may require the submission of a brief report) up to a total of 2% extra credit.

Accommodation Statement: In accordance with University Policy 2310 and the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), academic accommodations may be made for any student who notifies the instructor of the need for an accommodation. It is imperative that you take the initiative to bring such needs to the instructors' attention, as we are not legally permitted to inquire. Students who may require assistance in emergency evacuations should contact the instructors as to the most appropriate procedures to follow. Contact Accessibility Resource Center at 277-3506 for additional information.

If you need an accommodation based on how course requirements interact with the impact of a disability, you should contact us to arrange an appointment as soon as possible. At the appointment we can discuss the course format and requirements, anticipate the need for adjustments and explore potential accommodations. We rely on the Disability Services Office for assistance in developing strategies and verifying accommodation needs. If you have not previously contacted them we encourage you to do so.

Academic Dishonesty: Academic dishonesty includes dishonesty in quizzes, tests, or assignments; claiming credit for work not done or done by others; and hindering the academic work of other students. You are encouraged to work together on homework assignments, but must turn in your own work. You may not use electronic devices or copy the work of others on tests and exams.

Withdraw: After the deadline to drop a course without Dean's approval (12th week of the semester for 16 week courses – check registrar.unm.edu for all course deadlines), you must obtain approval from the Dean of your college. Through your advisement center you may petition for Dean's approval. This process is for dropping one or more courses but not all courses for the semester. If you need to drop all of your courses, please meet with the Dean of Students Office (dos.unm.edu).

Criteria: Students may be allowed to drop courses because they have extenuating circumstances that prevent them from completing their course. Extenuating circumstances include but are not limited to:

- Medical condition of student or immediate family member that has made it impossible to continue the course
- Death of an immediate family member that necessitates leaving the University
- A work schedule that is requiring travel, extended work hours, or reassignment

Extra Help: In addition to your instructor's weekly office hours, the Language Learning Center offers free tutoring and conversation groups for Arabic through the Center for Academic Program Support (CAPS). Details and times can be found on the LLC website: <http://llc.unm.edu/> and the CAPS website: <http://caps.unm.edu>. The Arabic Club also offers tutoring, and information about meeting times will be posted on UNM Learn. If you have questions about material covered in class, or simply want more practice, be sure to take advantage of these opportunities. Don't be shy—these opportunities exist to help you!

Appropriate language placement: Language courses are most effective when all students in the class are at a similar level of competency. The department reserves the right to determine placement and to drop any student whose language proficiency level is inappropriate.

Limitations of the Syllabus:

This syllabus is intended to serve as an outline and guide to this course. It is not entirely exhaustive and it may be revised, changed or augmented as deemed fit by the instructor. It is intended that the course will generally follow the syllabus but this is not restrictive. (Grading percentages for categories are fixed as is the final exam date and time.)

Disclaimer:

Any material in any format whether written, audio or video and which we will be exposed to in the class does not necessarily reflect the instructor's opinions or beliefs. The material that will be used is solely for educational purposes.

How To Do Well In This Class:

We can make more progress in this class by creating an Arabic speaking community of which you will be a fully participating member. Talk in Arabic all the time with me and your classmates. Don't try to translate in English for a classmate who doesn't understand something. If your words fail you, ask me in Arabic ("بالعربية؟" "كيف نقول ()") instead of breaking into English.

The following are some tips that will help you get the most out of this course:

Study out loud & in pairs or groups: ask each other questions, brainstorm about assignments, go over materials covered together.

Personalize vocabulary: use the words you learn at class and in the book to talk about yourself with them. Write extra sentences that are meaningful to you so that the vocabulary becomes yours.

Learn from your own mistakes and those of others: We are all here to learn from our mistakes. When speaking, try not to focus on the mistakes you might be making and instead focus on communicating! When your classmates are speaking, be an active listener and think of how you would correct their sentences.

Develop good study habits: Keep all your Arabic materials in one place. Don't throw away the old quizzes and homework. Review all the corrections of your homework and see how you can avoid making the same mistakes. Come to the office as often so you can communicate or practice. Use flashcards or Anki for the vocabulary items, and use them to talk to each other outside the class room. Set your computer, phone, or social media page to Arabic for everyday practice.

Repetition: go through the new vocabulary items over and over. Repeat after the speaker on the DVD till you are able to pronounce correctly. It is not impossible to develop native speaker proficiency if you put in enough effort.

Ask for help: At times, you may feel frustrated or overwhelmed with Arabic. This is a natural part of the learning process. If this happens in class, ask your instructor or classmates for help or to repeat information. If you think you are the only one who doesn't understand an activity or instruction, you are probably wrong, and your classmates will be relieved you asked. Outside of class, make use of office hours and the extra help opportunities listed on your syllabus.

بالتوفيق إن شاء الله

Best wishes for success!
