Event: Clubs, and Campus Resources

Time: Tuesday, March 3rd from 11:30-12:30

Location: Ortega 322 (the lounge)

The purpose of this event is to discuss the importance of participating in extra-curricular activities as well as the importance of utilizing on campus resources during grad school.

Representatives from both a UNM graduate student association and an international honor's society will explain their groups' mission and upcoming events. A representative from the graduate resource center will explain campus resources.

Our goal is to recruit new members into our organizations as well as to raise awareness about academic support and professional development opportunities (i.e. PAW workshops, GRC career advisement, and CV proofreading).

Discussion topics: Professional benefits of extra-curricular activities
Adding extra-curricular activities to a CV
UNM resources (training, conferences, student government)
Specific programs offered at the College of Education
